DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 6, 7, 12-16, 27-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Joshi et al (US 6109539). Joshi discloses a controlled release fluid delivery device 110 comprising a housing 112 having a fluid reservoir for holding a fluid 111, a means for delivering fluid out of the fluid reservoir 114, means for retaining the fluid 116 proximate an ambient environment, and a means for imparting motion to the fluid retaining member (Col. 8, lines 50-62, Col. 9, lines 7-12). The device may include a gas generating cell 95 (col. 9, lines 7-12). The opening 114 in the reservoir is downward facing and the means for retaining fluid is a porous pad. See Fig. 10. The opening inherently includes means for controlling the rate of fluid flow therethrough. Joshi inherently discloses the method of using the device including the steps of using a fluid delivery mechanism to deliver fluid from a reservoir, retaining the fluid in a retaining member, and imparting motion to the fluid retaining member.

3. Claims 30-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Adams et al (US 6938883). Adams discloses a controlled release fluid delivery device comprising a housing 30 having a fluid reservoir 20 therein, a fluid delivery mechanism 310, and a motion mechanism 32 including a motor and a blade element.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 33 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Adams in view of Glaser (US 4944898). Claim 33 differs from Adams in calling for the fluid retainer to be a coating on the blade. Glaser teaches that it is well known to coat a fan blade in a material containing a volatile liquid to disperse the liquid vapor into the ambient environment. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the device of Adams to include the retaining material as a coating on the fan blade as taught by Glaser to disperse the liquid vapor into the ambient environment.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 6, 7, 10-16, 27-33 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
